Anchor adds Kingston Plus™ and Holland Plus™ Pavers

Minneapolis (August 2009) – Anchor Block System announces the addition of Kingston Plus™ and Holland Plus™ to its line of paving stones. Ideal for driveways, walkways, terraces, paths, pool decking and more, the Kingston Plus and Holland Plus designs are sold through landscape wholesale distributors throughout the upper Midwest. For a complete list of suppliers and product details, please visit www.anchorblock.com.

“The two new paver lines give homeowners even more choices when designing their perfect outdoor setting -- whether they’re creating an inviting exterior entry or a grand outdoor living area,” says Sandy Stoffel, director of marketing.

The Plus product lines are enhanced with a premium concentrated material at the top of each paver that produces a rich color; distinctive, fine texture; and wear-resistant surface. Stoffel adds, “The Plus pavers look so rich that they can look like traditional clay pavers, but are more economical.”

Reminiscent of a cobblestone road, Kingston Plus pavers feature a richly textured surface with tapered corners that evoke a quaint, European charm. The varied sizes allow for the creation of random patterns. The Kingston Plus line also features a ready-to-assemble circle kit for enhanced visual appeal and focal point.

The more uniform, traditional look of Holland Plus pavers offers versatile options for walkways, patios, and border accents with other paving stones.

Plus pavers are available in a rich color palette consisting of Barkwood, Woodland and Brick Red.

Anchor produces traditional concrete masonry blocks, retaining wall blocks, pavers and other masonry products, using more than 7,000 color, shape and texture combinations to add color, design and versatility to homes, businesses and public green spaces. With an in-house quality control laboratory, Anchor ensures its products are durable and consistent for projects that will stand the test of time.
